“Engaging a People Oriented, People-Centered ASEAN Community Towards Inclusiveness”

MIGRANT ISSUE : MALAYSIA SUGGESTS MORE JOB OPPORTUNITIES IN ASEAN COUNTRIES

KUALA LUMPUR, 8 September 2015 - The creation of more jobs and better economic opportunities for people in ASEAN countries can be key to addressing the human trafficking and migrant issues in the region, said Deputy Speaker of the House of Representatives, Hon. Datuk Seri Dr. Ronald Kiandee.

Hon. Datuk Seri Dr. Ronald Kiandee, Head of Malaysian Delegation, said that although the problem of human trafficking was not as serious as in Europe, it is a worrying concern to be arrested.

Referring to the recent discovery of mass graves of trafficked persons in Perlis, he said the careless "importing" of migrants and then recklessly killing them stands for a decadent society.

It shows an example of embarrassing conduct of money-making local agents.

He said the porous borders among ASEAN countries are also an inducement for migrants searching for their ultimate El Dorado.

He added that Parliamentarians can persuade our respective governments to create more job opportunities and give equal opportunities to the jobs. This will to a certain extent prevent migrants from making arduous, risky and dangerous journeys in search of a better life, to feed their families back home, in particular, their children.

Meanwhile, the meeting, themed 'Engaging a People-Oriented, People-Centred ASEAN Community Towards Inclusiveness' is attended by more than 300 Members of Parliaments from nine ASEAN countries. Eight observer countries represented by Australia, Belarus, India, South Korea, New Zealand, Russia, Timor Leste and the European Union also attended the 36th AIPA GA.
